MEDAL OF HONOR

BEYOND THE PERF

Everyone knows a military hero, be it a grandparent, father, mother, sister, brother, friend, or neighbor. Our veterans, along with the men and women currently serving in the armed forces, deserve our respect, support, and gratitude for their sacrifice. Among those heroes are the few who have earned America's highest award for military valor — the Medal of Honor. We at the U.S. Postal Service are honored to celebrate the World War II Medal of Honor recipients. Of the 16 million members who served in the U.S. Armed Forces during the Second World War, only 464 were deemed to have met the standard necessary to warrant award of the Medal of Honor, which is given "for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life, above and beyond the call of duty."

As a tribute to these exceptional men, the U.S. Postal Service created a new stamp format, the prestige folio, especially for the Medal of Honor: World War II issuance.

The folio consists of four pages, which include historic photographs of the last living recipients from World War II, all of whom agreed to participate in this project, as well as a list of the names of all 464 men who earned the Medal of Honor for their service during the war. Sadly, Senator Daniel K. Inouye and Vernon McGarity died before the stamps could be issued. Two different stamps (10 of each) feature the Navy and Army versions of the Medal of Honor. (The Air Force version was not created until 1965.)

So highly esteemed are the medal honorees that President Harry S. Truman was quoted many times as saying, "I would rather have a Medal of Honor than be President of the United States." According to tradition and the nature of the award, even a four-star general will salute a private who wears the Medal of Honor.

We join in saluting this remarkable group whose courage deserves our highest honor.

A self-supporting government enterprise, the U.S. Postal Service is the only delivery service that reaches every address in the nation, 150 million residences, businesses and Post Office Boxes. The Postal Service receives no direct support from taxpayers. With 36,000 retail locations and the most frequently visited website in the federal government, the Postal Service relies on the sale of postage, products and services to pay for operating expenses.
Named the Most Trusted Government Agency five consecutive years and the sixth Most Trusted Business in the nation by the Ponemon Institute, the Postal Service has annual revenue of more than $68 billion and delivers nearly half the world's mail. If it were a private sector company, the U.S. Postal Service would rank 26th in the 2008 Fortune 500.

D These new, festive Holiday series stamps capture the whimsical and delicious tradition of making gingerbread houses. The stamps feature photographs of four different colorful houses constructed out of gingerbread, royal icing, and various candies.

E The Postal Service continues its tradition of issuing beautiful and classic holiday stamps with Poinsettia, a bright, cheerful rendering of America's favorite holiday flower. The stamp art depicts the rich red and green leaves surrounding the flower, with the cluster of small, cup-shaped structures in the center.

NEW ISSUES

B The U.S. Postal Service continues its tradition of celebrating Kwanzaa in 2013 with a new Forever® stamp. This annual non-religious holiday, which takes place over seven days from December 26 to January 1, brings family, community, and culture together for many African Americans.

C Celebrated by Jews around the world, Hanukkah, the joyous Festival of Lights, spans eight nights and days of remembrance and ritual. The holiday commemorates the victory of the Jews, led by Judah Maccabee, over the armies of Antiochus IV and the Seleucid Empire in 165 B.C.E.

A This new Christmas stamp features Gossaert's 1531 painting Virgin and Child. Draped in purple and blue, the Virgin Mary supports her own head by leaning on one of her hands, an unusual pose that art historians see as a sign of sadness and contemplation.

COMMEMORATIVES

A Evoking the memory of a civil rights milestone, The 1963 March on Washington Forever® stamp depicts marchers, holding placards calling for equal rights and jobs for all, against the background of the Washington Monument.

B The Rosa Parks stamp marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of the iconic figure of the civil rights movement. By refusing on December 1, 1955, to give up her seat on a municipal bus in Montgomery, Alabama, to a white man, Parks inspired a movement to end racial segregation.

C This stamp commemorates the 150th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, which President Abraham Lincoln signed on January 1, 1863. Lincoln's proclamation, issued nearly two years into the Civil War, declared that all slaves in the rebel-held territory of the Confederacy "are, and henceforward shall be free."
